1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-10, in Paper No. 3 is acknowledged. Claims 11-16 have been canceled. Claims 1-10 remain in the application.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

No apparatus claims remain in the application.

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

On pg. 8, line 9, the platform (30) should be platform (40). The laminated circuit is referenced by (30).

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

With respect to claim 1, the claim recites forming a laminated circuit having passive components therein, however, the recitation of introducing "passive components "is not claimed. Are they formed? Are they attached? Clarification is requested.

Application/Control Number: 09/972,953

Art Unit: 1762

With respect to claim 2, the term "components circuits" lacks antecedent basis.

With respect to claim 5, the term "fluid engineering plastics" is vague and indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's admitted state of the art (pg. 1, lines 9-19) in combination with Purcell et al. (6,322,854) or Cavallaro (6,224,671 B1).

Applicant's admitted state of the art (pg. 1, lines 9-19) teaches forming circuit boards by designing a circuit layout in a computer converting it in a Gerber file, making a negative film based on Gerber file and developing the layout a number of ways.

Applicant's admitted state of the art (pg. 1, lines 9-19) fails to teach forming the circuitry by a spraying/dispensing apparatus which is controlled by the computer data file to dispense coating material onto the substrate.

Purcell et al. (6,322,854) teaches a multiple head dispensing method whereby a system for dispensing different materials from different dispensing heads is controlled by a computer system (abstract and col. 1 - col. 4).

Application/Control Number: 09/972,953

Art Unit: 1762

Cavallaro (6,224,671 B1) teaches a multiple head dispensing method whereby a system for dispensing different materials from different dispensing heads is controlled by a computer system (abstract and col. 1 - col. 7).

Therefore, it would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified Applicant's admitted state of the art (pg. 1, lines 9-19) by incorporating a dispensing apparatus as evidenced by either Purcell et al. (6,322,854) or Cavallaro (6,224,671 B1) with the expectation of achieving similar results. In addition the use of the dispensing apparatus would reduce manufacturing cost and provide more precise deposition of the coating materials.

With respect to the materials dispensed and the amount thereof, it is the Examiner's position that these variations are a matter of design choice of a practitioner in the art and would be optimized dependent upon the desired end product use.
